

JAPAN

Did you know that the Shinjuku railway station in Tokyo is the world's busiest?

Approx. 3.5 million passengers use the Shinjuku railway station every day as connecting hub to other parts of the bustling metropolis of Tokyo, making it the world's busiest station in passenger throughput.

We understand the importance of an effective and connective transport solution. Leveraging our worldwide distribution network, our superior local staff excel in connecting import and export customers to the 3,800 km long island country through its major international air and ocean ports.

We know logistics in Japan. For over a quarter-century, our logistics specialists have provided local and global customers with efficient and tailor-made solutions. Based on deep-rooted local knowledge, customs expertise, and understanding of the requirements essential to an effective supply chain, they will help find the right solution catering to your specific logistics needs.

With an equally long track record of providing humanitarian aid logistics for NGOs and the Japanese government, they can act and adapt quickly to any change of plans or circumstances to secure the delivery of your goods - safely, timely, and effectively.

And not to worry. Our local staff speak English and will ensure that nothing is lost in translation or en route. They speak the language of logistics and are at your service whenever you need assistance.
